

REARDON DISCUSSES IRELAND'S EXHIBIT

Commissioner, Just Back From Emerald Isle, Says Show Will Startle World.

DISPLAY WORTH $1,000,000.

Dirt From Famous Battlefields and Eighty Irish Men and Women Dancers Are on the Way.

The Republic Bureau, New York, April 16.—"Ireland is still on the map," said James A. Reardon of St. Louis, who arrived from the Emerald Isle on the Campania today, after five months' work abroad, during which he succeeded in organizing an exhibit of Irish industries for the World's Fair.

"Conditions in the Emerald Isle," continued Mr. Reardon, "are very prosperous. We are going to have an excellent show. It is acknowledged by officials of the British exhibit to be at least as large as that of England."

"To state the value in figures, I can say that the Irish exhibit will be worth at least $1,000,000, and this is a conservative estimate. For instance, we will have on show gold and silver plate, every piece of which has a history connected with it, valued at not less than $75,000, and our losses will be worth not less than $25,000 alone."

"These are but two very small items. When it is considered that we will have an exhibit of 60 exhibits in all, and that 25 manufacturers are to be presented, together with an array of the most wonderful collection of antiquities ever gathered together, we will form some idea of the display we intend to make. Of course we will not have everything ready for the opening day, but every ship that comes into port for the next month will carry some exhibit for our show, and when it is completed Ireland's exhibit will play second fiddle to none."

"I might talk all night on the rate of the Irish people now on the way here, or being made ready for shipment, but it will be necessary to see the exhibit before it can be appreciated. I have arranged for the shipment of about 100 Irish men and women, which may be used to build a half house, but this has not yet been decided. Ireland, twenty-four years of the most from which are being sent to be represented in the 'bloody acre' in Dublin, which during the time of the famine was a slaughterhouse, and of which one old Irishman who I saw said: 'Every grain of dirt that is blown from that place'."

"There will also be forwarded 2,000 bunches of shamrocks and ten jousting caps."

LIFTON LEADS PAINTING.

St. Thomas Lifton has landed very fine oil paintings, one representing a mythical battle, which is called the "Emerald Isle." We are also to have a reproduction of the famous battle of Shandon in solid silver. The work of a silver-smith named Dan of Cork.

Mr. Reardon has arranged for the transportation of thirty Irish men and women who are due to arrive here on the Campania April 22. These include Ireland's own band, members of the Irish-American dramatic company, six Irish five vocalists, six Irish dancers, two Irish players, one Irish fiddler, and a dozen Irish men and women of various professions. Twelve women are the party.

"Faking of immigration," said Mr. Reardon, "was one of the things that I have seen. I have been authorized to find in this country some of the Irish-American graduates who would like to take up technical instruction in Ireland. America is much farther advanced in technical education than England. The students now in the United States are the boys of our colleges, and they are recognized by the Department of Agriculture, in whose charge this branch of learning is vested."

"I have been commissioned to find men who are willing to take the place of several of the present instructors. Every hundred dollars a year is offered, and this is of infinitely greater value in Ireland than double the pay in the United States."

"Father Downey, a parish priest of Cork, when told of the suggestion, begged me to send some of our young men to the other side to make the people. He said he could place half a dozen in his district and would use his every influence if desirable instructors could be secured here."

Mr. Reardon will leave for St. Louis on Monday.

PHILIPPINE VETERANS SIGN VOUCHERS FOR BOUNTY

Under New Ruling Men Are Entitled to Two Months' Extra for Foreign Service.

Nearly 30 members of the National Society of the Army of the Philippines attended a meeting of Camp Lawrence B. DeWitt, at Tohl's Hall, Blaine avenue and Solisbury street, last night, and signed vouchers that they had regularly enlisted in the United States Army and were entitled to the bounty for active service.

"These vouchers will be sent to the War Department at Washington and, after investigation, they prove to be correct, a United States' warrant for two months' back pay will be forwarded each man. This is in accordance with a ruling of the Treasury Department made sometime ago that all volunteers who were sent out to the United States would be entitled to two months' pay as a bounty."

The men at the meeting were not all Americans, but represented almost every State in the Union. Nearly every camp in the United States is taking like action. A smoker followed the business meeting and a few informal addresses and reminiscences were given by officers and invited guests.

POLICE KILL A SOLDIER IN RIOT AT PENSACOLA

Sailors From the Iowa and Alabama, and Artillerymen From Fort Barrancos Engage in a Duel, One Side Firing Revolvers and the Other Throwing Bottles, Stones and Other Missiles—Trouble Starts Upon the Arrest of a Private.

Pensacola, Fla., April 16.—In a riot here to-night between police and bluejackets from the warships, and a few artillerymen from Fort Barrancos, one enlisted man named Banks of the Seventh Artillery was killed and four bluejackets from the Iowa and Alabama were wounded, though not seriously.

The riot started upon the arrest of a bluejacket. Three police officers were at the patrol call box, when a petty officer from one of the ships blew a whistle signal in use on the ships for the men to assemble. Fully 200 gathered and rushed the policemen separating them.

Two of the policemen backed away from the crowd, firing as fast as possible at the advancing bluejackets, who were hurling stones, bottles and other missiles at them. It was during this shooting that the artilleryman was killed.

Re-enforcements from the police station arrived at this juncture and partly dispersed the bluejackets.

Later, owing to many threats of the men from the warships to kill the police, Admiral Barker ordered marine guards from two of the ships ashore, and they called the riot and prevented further trouble.
